

REBEL FORCES ACTIVE THREATEN MEXICO CITY IN RENEWED CIVIL WAR

ATTACK ON CAPITAL BY ZAPATA
FROM SOUTH AND CARRANZA FROM NORTH IS LATEST REPORT.

MORE TROUBLE FEARED

General Villa Prepares to Take Saltillo and San Luis Potosi White Unrest Prevails at Coast Cities.

Washington, D. C., May 6.—Admiral Badger reported to the navy department today that the constitutionalist forces are advancing that the federalists are retreating from the northwestern portion of Mexico. There were no disastrous results as far as could be learned, according to what the report stated.

Admiral Badger's report said further that Admiral Mayo informed him of persistent rumors current about the capital that General Villa was on his way with reinforcements for the constitutionalist, and intended to "take and burn the city."

Admiral Mayo stated he did not put the slightest faith in the rumor supposed to have been arranged between the constitutionalist and federalists at Tampico.

Free Hand to Funston.

Orders have gone from the war department to General Funston, it was learned today, authorizing him to extend his lines about Vera Cruz as far as he thought necessary in his judgment.

Tals, it was explained, gives the American commander virtually a free hand in dealing with the situation at Vera Cruz. It is said that the American lines will be immediately extended and heavy railway fortifications thrown up.

General Funston at Vera Cruz reported to the War Department today that he had no definite information regarding a movement of the Mexican federal troops. He said he thought it probable that such concentration of the Mexican forces as had been made was only for the purpose of defending the lines of railways south to Mexico City and to the west.

Later reports were that the track of the international railway were being torn up.

Mexico City in Danger.

Observers who received dispatches from the federal capital declared Huerta had done little to indicate that he expected an immediate advance or to offer severe resistance if that happened. However, numerous representatives state the federalists are making the federal capital a base for the capture and the east coast. Huerta's forces are said to be menaced by Villa's army from the north and a charge of the Zapatistas from the south.

Orders for the use of the federalists were being taken from the federal arsenals yesterday. Zapata's threat to attack Mexico City yesterday did no materialize. It is said, however, that it is a possibility that the Zapatistas may emerge as a prominent factor to be regarded in future happenings. Some observers said that even if the constitutionalist conquer Huerta's federalists, they will still be subject to an attack by an army of Zapata.

Renewal of the fighting for the possession of Tampico was reported by Rear Admiral Mayo today. No indications were given that it had ended decisively.

West Coast Situation.

Admiral Howard reported today from the west coast of Mexico that relations with Mexican authorities are more cordial than would be expected under the conditions.

All of the American fleet, he said, "have been ordered to avoid hostilities and the jeopardizing of lives." A later dispatch from General Funston stated that food is not getting into Vera Cruz from the interior of Mexico, but it was being received from the shore villages and towns from the north and from the south.

Admiral Howard reports from Mazatlan that constitutionalist are entrenched on Pedros Island. Firing continued today with rifles and field guns and on the Mexican federalist gun boat Morles, lying in the harbor. The fire was returned by the federalists from the battery on shore.

Zapata's Strength.

In diplomatic circles the dispatch of Zapata are advancing that the holding of Huerta on his soldiers is weakening. It is stated that Zapata has said that he would get to Mexico City before Villa. May 5th, the patriotic holiday, was celebrated with none of the anti-foreign disturbances which were feared.

American Consul Safe.

The British minister in Mexico City informed the state department today that American Consul Booney reported under arrest in San Luis Potosi had arrived in Mexico City with Mrs. Booney and both were safe from last accounts all Americans in San Luis Potosi were safe.

Villa's Campaign Plan.

Torrion, Mexico, May 6.—Preparations which are under way made evident that the plan of campaign of General Villa against the federalists provides for a simultaneous attack on Saltillo and San Luis Potosi. He himself has decided to lead the attack on Saltillo, while General Hernandez and General Benavides will lead a strong force against San Luis Potosi. The attack on San Luis Potosi will have Saltillo practically isolating the federal garrison. The federalists, under General Maas, if unable to hold the Saltillo stronghold, will have nothing left to them but death by hunger and thirst, if cut off from San Luis Potosi.

The effect of the campaign of General Villa against the federalists provides for a simultaneous attack on Saltillo and San Luis Potosi. He himself has decided to lead the attack on Saltillo, while General Hernandez and General Benavides will lead a strong force against San Luis Potosi. The attack on San Luis Potosi will have Saltillo practically isolating the federal garrison. The federalists, under General Maas, if unable to hold the Saltillo stronghold, will have nothing left to them but death by hunger and thirst, if cut off from San Luis Potosi.

Between the two places is almost barren, and if the railroads were cut through the south as Villa undoubtedly intends, only a very few fugitives could have a chance of making their way through the stretch of country on horseback or on foot.

AMERICAN WOMAN IS INSURGENT LEADER

May Wright Sewall Heads Movement to Depose Countess of Aberdeen.

Rome, May 6.—The second day's meeting of the International Council of Women, now being held in Rome under the presidency of the Countess of Aberdeen, developed an effort to depose the countess from the position which she has held for twenty years.

Mrs. May Wright Sewall, an American delegate from Maine, distributed a book entitled "The Genius of the International Council of Women" which was the subject of heated discussions at the morning sessions. The purpose of the book, it was declared, was to bring about the removal of the countess from the presidency of the organization.

Sewall is at the head of a faction favoring "rotation" in the presidency.

ATTACKS PRESIDENT AND ASKS WHETHER HE UPHOLDS VILLA

Senator Lippitt of Rhode Island Fails to Carry Cautious Resolution in Heated Senate Debate.

Washington, D. C., May 6.—Vigorous criticism of the administration in regard to their Mexican policy and over the Vera Cruz situation marked the efforts of Senator Lippitt of Rhode Island today to declare action in the senate on his resolution to ask President Wilson if he is supporting Villa for the next ruler of Mexico.

Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee defended the administration. The resolution was laid on the table without a record vote.

"The suspicion that our government is aiding and abetting the villain Villa is so sickening that I have long refused to believe it," said Senator Lippitt, "but the report of the administration as supporting Villa has continued so long that I have introduced my resolution."

After quoting President Wilson's declaration in his message to congress observing strict neutrality between the factions of Mexico, Senator Lippitt said that the actions of the government were much in contradiction of those expressions.

Senator Lippitt spoke of the Vera Cruz incident and the loss of Mexican lives as the length to which the administration had gone.

Senator Stone took Senator Lippitt to task and Mr. Lippitt responded that Senator Stone was placing his work in a false light.

"I know what the senator meant," said Stone. "He meant to charge the president with the death of two hundred innocent Mexicans—think of it—innocent Mexicans at Vera Cruz."

"The Rhode Island senator is pleased to regard the firing on our boys in violation of all rules of warfare. All the country approved of what the president did in regard to the Vera Cruz incident, with the exception of the senator from Rhode Island."

The senator said we were hasty at Vera Cruz because a German vessel was approaching, laden with arms for Huerta and his army. Surely the president was taking the only stand he could to enforce the ultimatum and make Huerta apologize for what he did.

The senator from Rhode Island advises the administration that it should have remained inactive until rapid firing cannons showed up, and rifles with tons of ammunition had been divided into the hands of the men who would fire at our flag and our soldiers when the landed at Vera Cruz.

BRITISH ULTIMATUM IS MADE AT HAITI

Order Immediate Payment of $62,000 Indemnity Due to British Subject

Port au Prince, Haiti, May 6.—The British diplomatic representative at Port au Prince today issued an ultimatum to the Haitian government demanding the immediate payment of an indemnity of $62,000 to a British subject here for loss sustained by the fire of his saw mill during the Le Conte revolution. The ultimatum expires at six this evening.

MAYOR AND COUNCIL ARE SENTENCED TO JAIL

Munich, May 6.—The Bavarian district court has sentenced the mayor of Partonkirche, a large town on the edge of the Bavarian Alps, together with the entire town council, to jail for libeling young women teacher in the schools there.

The mayor was given three days in jail and the members of the council each two days. All have appealed. If the higher courts sustain the sentence, the town, which is an important summer resort, will be without government for several days. The trouble arose out of derogatory remarks made by the mayor and councilmen in a row with the teacher as to the house which the town has to furnish her while engaged as a teacher.

What is the quality of the routine or drill instruction work to fresh men and sophomores, who constitute more than 50 per cent of the university enrollment?

In the work in professional schools, is the work in professional schools satisfactory done and properly supported, and is the university doing too much time is given by the members of the faculty to university work and of the total time of each member how much is given to instruction and to students' work and how much to research?

"What is the relative cost of conducting each kind of work in the university, and is the cost too high or too low, and about right?"

In this connection President Van Hise suggests the probable unfairness of making comparisons between the Wisconsin university and other universities without first making sure that the reports of each are made up on the same basis. He said: "The comparison of one institution with another is studied from the same standards. I hope the report will be a proportional one; that is, one that will at the same time point out deficiencies and excellencies."

James C. Riley is acting secretary of the board of public affairs.

DECIDE TO PROCEED
WITHOUT CARRANZA

A. B. C. DIPLOMATS WILL MAKE NO FURTHER ATTEMPTS TO REBEL LEADER.

Engage Hotel Accommodations at Niagara Falls, Canada, for Official Conferences Beginning May 18.

Washington, May 6.—South American envoys seeking to mediate in the Mexican crisis, Ambassador De Gama of Brazil, Minister Naon of Argentina and Suarez of Chile, called at the state department a few minutes after noon and entered into a conference with Secretary Bryan.

After a short session with Secretary Bryan one of the mediators announced that they had decided to proceed without Carranza. The possibility that the position of the chief of the constitutionalist was merely temporary was considered doubtful by the mediators.

Making Arrangements.

The mediators are planning today for the removal of the conferences to Niagara Falls, Canada, on May 18th. Telegrams were sent to leading hotels there, now closed, asking if it could be arranged so as to accommodate them. If this is not possible other hotels will be solicited or a private cottage will be taken while the negotiations are under way.

The mediators will leave May 14th to arrange preliminaries for the opening session on the following Monday. It was authoritatively stated that reports that the mediators are trying to get Carranza to reconsider his attitude toward the United States and the conferences, were not correct.

Asked to Send Agent.

Renewed effort of the South American envoys which tried to bring Carranza into preliminary mediation, came to a swift turn of events which excited prompt interest in the Mexican crisis today. While it has appeared that Carranza has been eliminated from the preliminary negotiations, because of his refusal to declare a truce, it developed today that the envoys were endeavoring to induce him to send an agent to compromise between Carranza and the United States at Niagara Falls, Canada, on May 18.

No formal mediation of the Mexican problem could be attempted until an armistice was arranged between the warring factions in the southern republic. The mediators' present aim is said to meet a Carranza agent for a direct discussion of the situation.

Secretary Lane called on the Argentine legation at 9 o'clock this morning, and had a conference with Mr. Naon, one of the mediators. Mr. Lane has been consulting with the president and Secretary Bryan on "pending" mediation and is giving the names of American delegates.

PICK UP SURVIVORS
FROM BURNING SHIP

WIRELESS MESSAGES TODAY CONFIRM REPORT OF TWENTY-SIX MEN.

South Boston, May 6.—The canal line here received the wireless dispatch today from Captain Miller of the Franconia reporting the rescue of part of the crew of the steamer Columbian which was lost at sea. The message was as follows:

"Received from steamer Georgia wireless 11:24 a. m., May 4th. Twenty-six men were picked up on May 4th, 1914, west, four mast and funnel gone. Large steamer burning all over. Hull high out of water. No people on board." After receiving this message I changed my course to cross position of burning steamer at 3 p. m. Could recover no trace of the wreck but decided to encircle position and 3:30 p. m. saw a boat on the starboard. The occupants of the boat were taken on board in a few minutes. Boat contained thirteen men and corpses lying in the bottom of the boat. The occupants had used trouser legs from corpses on the end of boat hooks for distress signals. The survivors were given brandy and soup and then put to bed. They immediately fell asleep."

Sable Islands, Nova Scotia, May 6.—Captain MacDonald and thirteen members of the British steamer Columbian, which burned at sea last night, were saved by the Manhattan, according to a wireless dispatch received by the Marconi station here today.

In 41.9 north latitude and 59.35 west longitude, the Canadian liner Franconia took up one of the Columbia's boats containing thirteen men and the body of C. Stewart Matthews. The missing body of the captain, the Manhattan, and other steamers are searching, contains the first and second officers and seven men.

The steamer Columbia, from Antwerp for New York, caught fire Sunday night at sea, according to a wireless from the Franconia, which rescued the first boat. The flames spread quickly and were followed by explosion which necessitated the abandonment of the boat by the crew.

The men got away in three boats, but in their haste they were ill prepared for a battle with the elements. Two of the survivors picked up had been adrift for thirty-six hours, and suffered severely.

Captain MacDonald's boat, which was picked up early today by the Manhattan, had been adrift for thirty-six hours before help reached them.

BEGIN SECOND TRIAL OF CHARLES BECKER

Defending Counsel Makes Serious Charges Against District Attorney—Deny Change of Venue.

New York, May 6.—The second trial of Charles Becker, former police lieutenant, charged with the murder of gambler Herman Rosenthal, began today in the circuit court building. Four men-guinnies so-called—recently paid for under their depositions, but Becker, charged with being the instigator, was saved by a recent ruling of the court of appeals.

Admission to the court was by ticket only. One hundred were turned away at the door. It was 10:30 when Justice Seabury ascended the bench and Becker was brought in.

FAVOR IMPROVEMENT AT DOUGLAS SCHOOL

CITY COUNCIL HOLDS IMPORTANT MEETING YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

OIL CONTRACT IS LET

Committee of Board of Education Recommends Better School Facilities—To Spend $5,500.

Important business was brought before the city council at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon, the contract for the furnishing of street oil was closed and the ordinance providing for a dog license was introduced and the recommendation of the board of education for improvement for the Douglas school was brought up for the session.

The report of the building committee of the board of education on the issue of additional bonds for the needed improvements was received with favor and City Attorney W. H. Donaherty was instructed to prepare an ordinance providing for the issue of additional Douglas school and industrial school bonds.

The matter will be brought up before the council for passage at an early date. The report submitted by the committee was as follows:

Used Dwelling House.
To the Honorable, the Mayor and Council of the City of Janesville: Gentlemen—

The need of increased school facilities for the Douglas school in the 33rd ward has been considered by the board of education for the past year. In the fall term it became apparent that the primary grade taught by Miss Atwood, was in need of relief due to the overcrowded condition of the room. The report shows that a total of fifty-one (51) pupils, ranging in ages from four to seven and eight, were enrolled. Many more pupils were waiting to enter after the holiday, which would have made the efficient handling of the children not only difficult but well nigh impossible.

After careful investigation the board of education decided to erect a kindergarten for the children under six years of age. A front room in the dwelling house of J. W. Crowley on Center avenue was rented and the school established. The wisdom of this move as showing the need of added school facilities is apparent in the light of the subsequent enrollment. The report of the total enrollment of the schools for the month of April being as follows:

Primary grade—35.
Kindergarten—20.

The renting of a room near the Douglas school to accommodate the younger children was not entirely satisfactory. The room is far from large enough and it is otherwise undesirable from a sanitary standpoint, and should be considered at best only a temporary expedient.

Industrial School Plans.
It is the present intention of the industrial board to establish an all-day industrial school in the Lincoln building. This will necessitate the transfer of one of the present Lincoln school grades, probably the sixth grade, to some other place and there is no vacant school room west of the river at present.

In view of this pressing need we would ask the commission to provide the means for building an addition to the Douglas school.

In conference with the state auditor it has seemed equitable that one-half the expense of the new building should be borne by the regular board and one-half by the industrial board. If this meets with your approval, we would suggest that subsequently arrangements should be made as to the division of the fund between the two boards and a full course of procedure determined. The architect's estimate of the cost of the addition is fifty-five hundred dollars ($5,500) complete.

one-half of the county's share for saloon licenses issued for the year of 1913. The ordinance to regulate and license the keeping of dogs and add eleven new sections to chapter eleven of the revised ordinances was given its first and second reading. The matter will be brought up before the council for the final hearing and passage in a meeting two weeks hence.

NEGRO BEFORE JURY ON MURDER CHARGE

Copper Colored Negro Placed on Trial for Murder of Ida Leeson, Girl Sculptress.

Chicago, May 6.—"Ike" Bond, a gigantic copper-colored negro, was placed on trial today before Judge Kennerly charged with the brutal murder of Miss Ida G. Leeson, girl sculptress and student at the Art institute, who was criminally assaulted and choked to death on a lonely prairie near Argo, a suburb, on the night of Oct. 5, 1913.

The case against Bond is purely circumstantial. It rests upon the testimony of Michael Binkowitz, a pawnbroker's clerk who is expected to take the stand and identify Bond as the negro who had Miss Leeson's watch the day after the murder. The defense will insist that Binkowitz was mistaken in his identity and will seek to establish an alibi.

Finding herself short of money, Miss Leeson inserted an ad in a newspaper asking employment as a nurse in order that she might continue her studies under Lorado Taft, noted sculptor, and other instructions at the Art institute. On the night of Oct. 5 she received a telephone call, answering her ad and started for an address in Argo given her by the caller over the telephone. Early the next morning her lifeless body was found on the prairie, near a deserted box-car. Part of her clothing had been torn off in the struggle and bits of cloth and hair pins were found in the box-car, indicating that she had been assaulted in the car and then dragged to the spot where her body was found.

A great car motorman and several persons at Argo recalled that a girl answering Miss Leeson's description left the car at Argo the night of the murder and was met by a big, copper-colored negro, who walked ahead of her and in the direction of the prairie, carrying her suit case. The police then established the theory that a negro had lured her to the spot where she was murdered. Bond's arrest was a mere accident.

"Why don't you look for Ike Bond," he answers the negro's description," is the chief of police of a town near Chicago. The police found Bond and the pawnbroker's clerk promptly identified him.

His last novel, "Creek of Scotland Yard," a detective story written under his own name, was published a few weeks ago.

SAFETY CIGAR BOX

Guards the Purchaser Against the Fraud of Substitution.

The manufacturers of foods, delicacies and other preparations meant for personal consumption are at present greatly concerned about the matter of substitution. Standard packages are secured in one way or another by unscrupulous persons and inferior goods placed therein and sold in the market as the genuine article. The manufacturers not only lose this sale, but their good name is made to suffer as the result of the transaction. Many liquors are now put up in bottles which are non-reliable. When once the contents have been removed the bottle must be discarded, for it is no good for any other purpose. In this manner the contents of a bottle may as well be judged by the label.

MUST DESTROY PACKAGE TO GET THE CONTENTS.

A cigar box, built on the same lines, has made its appearance, the subject of a recent patent grant. It is especially designed for the retailing of cigars in smaller quantities than are usually packed in boxes. For instance, the box shown herewith will hold twelve cigars and the purchaser is just as sure of getting the desired brand as if he had bought a larger box. The end of the package is covered in such a manner that the transparent shield must be broken away before the cigars can be removed, and this destruction is accomplished without interfering with the shields of any of the other compartments. This scheme has the additional advantage of maintaining the cigars in good condition.

High Tuberculosis Death Rate.

The per cent. of deaths from consumption among cement workers is 19 per cent., as against 14 per cent. for all the male workers in the United States. They inhale great quantities of cement dust, but some authorities consider this a source of health because of the heavy admixture of lime. Authorities differ on this score, and even federal evidence is inconclusive.

A prominent business man recently called on me, upon examining his spine I found the vertebra (spinal bones) out to the right. This caused pressure on the nerves controlling the liver. I found the vertebra, controlling the kidney nerves, was also out of line, thereby preventing the kidneys from receiving the nerve force which gives them the power to perform their important duties of purifying the blood. A few adjustments corrected the abnormal position of these two bones and the man is now enjoying the best of health. He can't help being one of my boosters.

Al McCoy seems to be an ambitious person, eager to gather roses while he may. When the papers were first being drawn up in his boat with ruddy cheeks, the Pacific coast middleweight, Al said all he wanted out of it was $15,000. Well, after the promoters were able to go on with the conversation they asked McCoy to please quit giving them and after a further discussion McCoy agreed to $25,000. His original idea was good, however. McCoy in meeting Murray is opposing a worthy opponent. Murray has been cleaning things up in his class out west and comes to Gotham with an interesting record. If McCoy is the champ that that he would have us all believe, he now has a real good chance to prove it. For a while after handling George Chip the K.O. he seemed content to rest on his glory, but things have reached the point where he will have to fight or get out. He shows good judgment in picking out a real scraper to begin with because if he isn't going to be able to make the grade he might as well have it over at once, and if he doesn't show a punch and real class the public will not be able to say that he fought a second rate.

John McGraw now has every one of his most valuable stars safely tied up with a contract. They can start all the Federal leagues they want in the next several years and it won't worry McGraw a bit. Chief Myers, the Giants' catcher, was the first one to be signed for a contracted term, the chief having agreed to stick with the New Yorkers for the next three years. Myers already had a contract applying this year, as did indeed quite a few of the team, but the new contract overlapped the present season, making McGraw doubly sure of having the Indian this year at any rate. Not so very long ago the Feds were reported to be flirting with several of the Giants and this may have hastened McGraw's actions. The Feds were unable to wax eloquent enough either with money or speech to drag any Giants away.

Rube Benton has been showing great form in the box with Cincinnati so far this season and this notwithstanding his motorcycle smash-up last fall. Tucker fined Benton at the time of the accident, suspended him and in fact punished him severely and tried his best to cure him of the motorcycle bug. However, Benton has shown so brilliantly this year that it might be well to equip all the rest of the Red pitchers with motorcycles and let them take running starts at each other.

Bob Hedges, St. Louis Brown owner, has stopped betting at his ball park. Bob didn't care for the idea of fans betting on ball games at his park and always winning. Especially as they always bet against the Browns.

COLLEGE MEN TO LEARN SOLDIERING AT CAMPS DURING THEIR VACATION

Washington, May 6.—Army camps for college students will open in four or five different sections of the country two months from today. The youths will find the camps a pleasant place to spend the vacation and cheap. The cost will be only $17 for five weeks of the regular army fare. Transportation and $7 for equipment will have to be paid by the men joining the camps, the objects of which are to give the collegians a short course in military training to prepare them for war. The war department will furnish coats, blankets, tents, cooking outfits and all other articles necessary for camp life.

AVIATORS JOIN HANDS TO HONOR LANGLEY, THE AEROPLANE INVENTOR

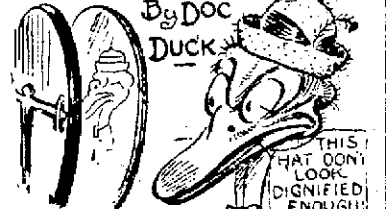

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, May 6.—Scientists and aviators today joined in doing honor to Langley, inventor of the heavier-than-air machine. Langley died practically broken hearted from ridicule about his original machine, and not until some years afterwards did the scientific world realize that his invention was practicable. Dr. Zahm of the Langley aerodynamic laboratory under the Smithsonian institution hoped today to have the original "aerodrome" on exhibition, and he expected to demonstrate that with a proper engine it could be operated as successfully as any of the later day machines.

GOELITZ AND ROBINSON TO ENTER CORNELL MEET AT ITHACA ON MAY 9th

Goelitz and Robinson, both star track men from Keewatin Academy at Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin, will compose the only Wisconsin track team that has ever been entered in the Cornell university track meet, held at Ithaca, New York, Saturday, May 9th. On the same day Keewatin will send another team to the meet held at Grinnell College.

Goelitz won the individual medal at the Detroit meet last Saturday, scoring 17 points. He is an all-around man and may break records in the east Saturday.

Subject That in America Has Not Been Given the Attention That It Deserves.

Power is one of the greatest factors in modern-day work. The thousand and one branches of it offer admirable fields for conquests by vigor and brains. In the field of power a few concerns have assisted men to obtain vocational training. From the boiler room have risen men by successive stages to positions of grave responsibility. In an issue of Power neglect in this branch of vocational training in the United States is commented upon as follows:

—————

"Power is a factor in all the important affairs of modern life," says a writer and thinker, and necessarily the engineer, who makes that power, is also a factor in that the whole purpose is not merely to make the wheels go 'round,' but to turn them at a profit. Furthermore, electricity, the steam turbine and the waterwheel have made the engineer's vocation even more difficult, demanding a degree of operating skill that is well-nigh impossible to acquire in some cases without special training.

"We are told that of all the great nations, ours is the most deficient in vocational development. Germany forty years ago saw its need and met it; England, Scotland, France, Austria, Switzerland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark are all paying heed to it. If we would successfully compete in our own chosen field with the large immigration yearly coming to our shores we must find the means to equally educate our own people in their vocations."

NEW PLUMBING LAWS WILL BE DISCUSSED

Southern Wisconsin Master Plumbers to Hold Public Meeting at City Hall Thursday Afternoon.

For the purpose of obtaining information on the new plumbing laws and the new rules of the state board of health, southern Wisconsin plumbers will hold a public meeting tomorrow afternoon at the assembly room of the city hall. Over sixty members of the State Plumbers' Association have written their intention of attending the meeting, and G. Holstrom of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, president of the Master Plumbers' Association, will be present.

In the morning the Southern Wisconsin Plumbers' Board and Sanitary Club will hold their third annual convention for the purpose of electing officers and will banquet together at noon. An open meeting will be held in the evening at which Frank R. King, chief state plumber, will give an address outlining the purpose and scope of the new plumbing laws. William Baker of Chicago will address the plumbers on business matters. A hand explanation of the law is sought by local plumbers before the appointment of an inspector by the Janesville council in conformance with the law. The plumbers are invited to attend, as the plumbers with the public have knowledge of the strict code and laws made by the state board of health.

For the last week Mr. King has been in the city inspecting the work of the Janesville plumbers, and will confer with Mayor Rogers on carrying out the regulations.

Sheriff Whipple decided the farm was a better place for the Duke.

BRITISH CELEBRATE FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF "ACCESSION DAY"

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, May 6. Artillery salutes were fired in St. James Park, London, at Windsor and all the big military and naval stations today in honor of the fourth anniversary of King George's accession to the throne. Masses were flown from all government buildings and British warships in all parts of the world "dressed ship," but these were the only official celebrations. The king and queen, with other members of the royal family, placed wreaths on the grave of the late King Edward at Windsor and attended a private memorial service at St. George's chapel. King George celebrated his forty-ninth birthday on June 3, having been born in 1855. He succeeded his father May 6, 1910, and was crowned June 22, 1911. In 1893 he married Princess Mary of Teck, who had long been engaged to his elder brother, the late Duke of Clarence, (died 1892), and by whom he has five sons and one daughter.

AERIAL MACHINE GUN INVENTED BY GERMAN

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Berlin, May 6.—An invention which it is claimed will give Germany the lead in aerial warfare is being thoroughly tested by military experts at Doberitz Camp. The apparatus, which is the invention of an army officer, enables a machine gun to be mounted on an aeroplane in front of the pilot, who will thus be able to control both gun and machine. The gun can be turned in any direction and can be used against an enemy aircraft. So far, it is stated, the experiments have been most successful.

CHILD CROSS? FEVERISH? SICK? A cross, peevish, listless child, with coated tongue, doesn't sleep, eats sometimes very little, then again ravenously; stomach sour; breath fetid; pains in stomach, with diarrhoea; grinds teeth while asleep, and starts up with terror—all suggest a Worm Killer—something that expels worms, and almost every child has them. Kickapoo Worm Killer is needed. Get a box today. Start at once. You won't have to coax, as Kickapoo Worm Killer is a candy confection. WRITES OF MEXICAN TROUBLE IN LETTER

Roy Frantz on Board Arkansas Ship, Tells of Rebellion and Situation in Southern Country.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Evansville, May 6.—The following letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Frantz, written by Roy Frantz, who is on the scene of battle now, to his parents in Belvidere and later sent to his grandparents. The writer is well known here and many will be interested to read it.

Arkansas, U. S. S. My Dear Mamma and Papa:

I will drop you just a line, as I heard there was mail to leave at 9:30 and I don't know when it will leave again. I suppose you have been worried because of the articles in the papers about us down here. We arrived here Tuesday night at midnight and sent four hundred men ashore as soon as we anchored. There has been some pretty hard fighting for the last couple of days, but it seems as though the Mexicans were not very good in marksmanship, as last night we had only fifteen killed and thirty-five wounded. They won't come out in the open and fight, but are shooting down from house tops.

Yesterday morning we blew up a building that had around a couple of hundred Mexicans in it, and now the "beat it for the hills."

We have a Mexican "tramp steamer" right next to us that tried to land about fifteen hundred Mexican soldiers during the night and they sent over a warning to it that if she tried to communicate with the shore in any way, we would open fire on them, but they have to wait! them all the time. We have the harbor here at Vera Cruz, and have it blockaded so no ships can come in or go out. The Wyoming, Texas, Nisider, and North Dakota is expected here today. I will not have time to write to grandma, so write to her and let her know. I'm O. K. and not to worry. We are going to leave here tonight for Tampico, but will come right back here again, as we are going to fire on the town and destroy it before we go inland. They expect a big fight when they try to capture Mexico City, as Huerta is stationed there.

Well, I will not try to write any more, so with love and best wishes to you and papa, I remain, Yours lovingly, ROY.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 23, 1914.

JEWS AGAIN THREATEND IN THE SUBURBS OF KIEF

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Odessa, May 6.—More than five thousand Jews are threatened with expulsion owing to the incorporation of several suburbs with Kief, the city made famous by the Mendel Beilis trial and which is outside the Pale.

The suburb of Denikova, with 184 families, comprising 5,048 persons, pulsion.

and that of Shulvaka with 120 families or 556 persons, were within the Pale, but as part of Kief, Jews are no longer permitted to live there.

The governor of Kief has recommended to St. Petersburg that the residents of these suburbs be attached to the Pale district of Lukovska, but in the meantime the police are inspecting permits of residents with a view to prosecution and ex-

DRIES SKIN ERUPTIONS RIGHT UP
END ECZEMA WITH SULPHUR
USE LIKE COLD CREAM TO STOP ITCHING

The moment you apply bold-sulphur to an itching or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a renowned dermatologist.

This remarkable sulphur made into a thick cream effects such prompt relief, even in aggravated Eczema, that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destroying properties and nothing has ever been found to take its place in relieving irritable and inflammatory affections of the skin.

While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet, in every instance, it immediately subdues the itching irritation and heals the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again manifests itself.

Any good pharmacist will supply an ounce of bold-sulphur cream which should be applied to the affected parts like the ordinary cold creams. It is unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome, particularly when the Eczema is accompanied with torturous itching. This is published by Walter Luther Dodge Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

COMPASS IN WATCH CROWN

Exceedingly Handy Combination for Tourist, Hiker and Camper.

A watch with a mariner's compass set in the crown head is a unique novelty which has been recently brought out for the convenience of hikers, campers, boy scouts and tourists generally. The unique feature of this combination is the manner of disposing of the compass. The size of the crown head is not noticeably increased, and yet there is sufficient space to put the magnetic needle inside it. This practically insures having the compass with you all the time. The possession of a watch rarely ventures forth without the timepiece, whereas he might thoughtlessly leave his compass behind, and this would be the very time that he would have need for the instrument.

LOSS OF APPETITE IN THE SPRING

Loss of appetite is accompanied by loss of vitality, vigor or tone, which is a more serious loss. It is common in the spring because at this time the blood is impure and impoverished and fails to give the digestive organs what they need for the proper performance of their functions.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. It makes the rich red blood your whole system demands. It is not simply a "spring medicine," but it is the best spring medicine.

Simple Practical Efficient Economical

THE REGINA SWEEPER MODEL "F" is strictly a one person machine, as easy to handle as an ordinary carpet sweeper, but vastly more modern and efficient.

Brooms and carpet sweepers remove dirt only from the surface and cannot be used without raising clouds of dust, but the Regina cleans by suction gets not only the surface dirt but also the dust imbedded in the fabric and collects this dust instead of scattering it.

In construction the Regina Model "F" is both simple and substantial. It is used in exactly the same manner as a carpet sweeper. It contains no hose or tubes, and there is nothing to get out of order. The suction is produced by duplex bellows which are actuated by turning of the rubber tired wheels, and which instantly respond to every movement of the machine in either direction. It sucks up the dust without the slightest wear on the carpet, is always ready for instant use, and does not even require oiling. All you have to do is push it around.

You need the Regina Model "F" for your daily sweeping, and cannot afford to be without it, no matter what other kind of vacuum cleaner you may already have.

We have tried several other lines of Sweepers, but none gives such universal satisfaction as the Regina.

LEARNING TO WANT LESS.
MOST of the unhappiness in the world comes from wanting things you cannot have.

Now there are two ways of making the discrepancy between things we have and what we want, less. One is to obtain some of the things we want. This is the most common way; the only way that gives us luck. A great many people live a lifetime without ever trying this method.

A Zulu prince who is studying to be a missionary told an interviewer the other day that it would have been far better for people were once, dearest, people in the world. Fifty years ago, before the white folks came, he had everything he wanted. Dey wo' no cloes an' dey had lan', an' dey had to work, tings grew ob demselves. Den de white folks came an' took de lan', an' put my people to work, an' made dem want tings dey didn't know was in de worl' befo'.

Now analyze that. The Zulus have no less than they ever had, but they want more. Therefore they have changed from de mos' happiest people in dis worl' to de mos' miserable.

Of course we must not forget the other side of the case. There are some things that it is right to want. To a certain extent a nation's progress is measured by the standards of living which the people hold. For instance, it is well that our people today want better sanitation in their homes than they used to have. It would be unfortunate if they stopped wanting that.

You all know how Thoreau, the Concord philosopher, became weary of the cares and demands of even the simple society of his day and went out into the woods and lived in a hut to show that men could still be happy and civilized without the trappings of civilization. Of his experiment he wrote:

"For more than five years I maintained myself thus solely by the labor of my hands, and I found that by working about six weeks in a year, I could meet all the expenses of living. The whole of my winters as well as most of my summers I had free and clear for study."

Now wasn't that a worth-while life?

No, I don't suppose you could go out into the woods and live like Thoreau. I must admit that that is a fair bubble, but that pin-prick of a word which so often bursts the idealist's fair bubble.

But even if we couldn't follow Thoreau's example we could at least try to get a little of his spirit.

"My greatest skill," he once said, "has been to want but little."

I can think of no skill we men and women of today more need to acquire than that.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—That Garden is Getting to be Kind of Tough on Father

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young—is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color, 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

LACK OF FRESH AIR

Causes Rundown Condition. How to Keep Strong.

Statistics prove that the death rate is very much greater in the winter months than in summer, and that the lack of fresh air is largely responsible for this condition.

If the system becomes rundown, blood thin and watery, circulation poor, no appetite, don't dose with drugs, but take our delicious cod liver and iron tonic Vinol, not a patent medicine, as everything in it is named on every package and if it does not give you a hearty appetite, enliven the blood and create strength, we will return your money; that shows our faith in Vinol.

A case has just come to our attention from Knoxville, Tenn. Miss Carrie King says: "For three years I was all rundown, weak, had no appetite and after all that time I am glad to say Vinol has brought back my health and strength."

Try a bottle of Vinol on our guarantee. P. S.—For Eczema of Scalp try our Saxon Salve. We guarantee it. Smith Drug Co., Druggists, Jansville, Wis.

WOMEN'S WOES

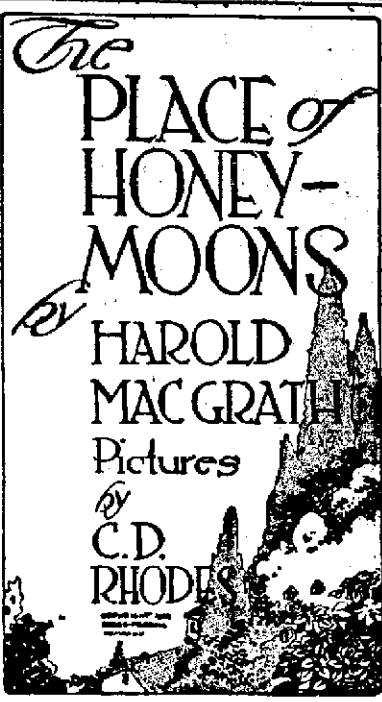

Jansville Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or head-aches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. George Hammes, 1208 Ravine St., Jansville, Wis., says: "Just about a year ago I began to notice that my kidneys were getting in bad shape. The first symptoms were severe backaches and pains across my hips. Then I had headaches and dizzy spells. I was nervous and felt miserable. I knew that my kidneys were causing this trouble so I used Doan's Kidney Pills. It took only a few boxes to cure me. Doan's Kidney Pills put my kidneys in fine shape and the nervous and dizzy spells left me, together with the pains in my back and head."

"You don't mean to say that you are going to settle down and get married?"

"I'm not going to settle down and get married, if that will ease your mind."

"Man, I was hoping!"

"Three meals a day in the same house, with the same woman, never appealed to me."

"What do you want, one for each meal?"

"There's the dusky princess peeking out again. The truth is, Abby, if I could hide myself for three or four years, long enough for people to forget me, I might reconsider. But it should be under another name. They envy us millionaires. Why, we are the loneliest of sufferers going. We distrust every one; we fly when a woman approaches; we become monomaniacs; one thing obsesses us, everybody is after our money. We want friends, we want wives, but we want them to be attracted to us and not to our money-bags. Oh, pshaw! What plans have you made in regard to the search?"

Gloom settled upon the artist's face. "I've got to find out what's happened to her, Ted. This isn't any play. Why, she loves the part of Marguerite as she loves nothing else. She's been kidnapped, and only God knows for what reason. It has knocked me silly. I just came up from Como, where she spends the summers now. I was going to take her and Fournier out to dinner."

"Who's Fournier?"

"Mademoiselle Fournier, the composer. She goes with Nora on the yearly concert tours."

"Pretty?"

"Charming."

"I see," thoughtfully. "What part of the lake; the Villa d'Este, Cadenabbia?"

"Bellaggio. Oh, it was ripping last summer. She's always singing when she's happy. When she sings out on the terrace, suddenly, without giving anyone warning, her voice is wonderful. No audience ever heard anything like it."

"I heard her Friday night. I dropped in at the opera without knowing what they were singing. I admit all you say in regard to her voice and looks; but I stick to the whim."

"But you can't fake that chap with the blood mustache," retorted Abbott grimly. "Lord, I wish I had run into you any day but today. I'm all in. I can telephone to the Opera from the studio, and then we shall know for a certainty whether or not she will return for the performance tonight. If not, then I'm going in for a little detective work."

"Abby, it will turn out to be the sheep of Little Bo-Peep."

"Have your own way about it."

When they arrived at the studio Abbott telephoned promptly. Nothing had been heard. They were substituting another singer.

"Call up the Herald," suggested Courtlandt.

Abbott did so. And he had to answer innumerable questions, questions which worked him into a fine rage; who was he, where did he live, what did he know, how long had he been in Paris, and could he prove that he had arrived that morning? Abbott wanted to find the receiver into the mouth of the transmitter, but his patience was presently rewarded. The singer had not yet been found, but the chauffeur of the mysterious car had turned up in a hospital, and perhaps by night they would know everything. The chauffeur had had a bad accident; the car itself was a wreck, wrecked, not far from Versailles.

"There!" cried Abbott, slamming the receiver on the hook. "What do you say to that?"

"The chauffeur may have left her somewhere, got drunk afterward, and plunged into the ditch. Things have happened like that. Abby, don't make a camel's hair shirt out of your paintbrushes. What a pother about a singer! If it had been a great inventor, a poet, an artist, there would have been nothing more than a two-line paragraph. But an opera singer, one who entertains us during our idle evenings—ha! that's a different matter. Set instantly that great municipal machinery called the police in action; sell extra editions on the streets. What ado!"

"What the devil makes you so bitter?"

"Was I bitter? I thought I was philosophizing." Courtlandt consulted his watch. Half after four. "Come over to the Maurice and dine with me tomorrow night, that is, if you do not find your prima donna. I've an engagement at five-thirty, and must be off."

"I was about to ask you to dine with me tonight," disappointedly.

"Can't, awfully sorry, Abby. It was only luck that I met you in the Luxembourg. Be over about seven. I was very glad to see you again."

Abbott kicked a broken easel into a corner. "All right. If anything turns up I'll let you know. You're at the Grand?"

"Yes. By-by."

"I know what's the matter with him," mused the artist, alone. "Some woman has chucked him. Silly little fool, probably."

Courtlandt went down stairs and out into the boulevard. Frankly, he was beginning to feel concerned. He still held to his original opinion that the diva had disappeared of her own free will; but if the machinery of the police had been started, he realized that his own safety would eventually become involved. By this time, he reasoned, there would not be a hotel in Paris free of surveillance. Naturally, blond strangers would be in demand. The complications that would follow his own arrest were not to be ignored.

He agreed with his conscience that he had not acted with dignity in forcing his way into her apartment. But that night he had been at odds with convention; his spirit had been that of the marauding old Dutchman of the seventeenth century. He perfectly well knew that she was in the right as far as the pistol-shot was concerned. Further, he knew that he could quash any charge she might make in that direction by the simplest of declarations; and to avoid this simplest of declarations she would prefer silence above all things. They knew each other tolerably well.

It was extremely fortunate that he had not been to the hotel since Saturday. He went directly to the war office. The great and powerful man there was the only hope left. They had met some years before in Algiers, where Courtlandt had rendered him a very real service.

"I did not expect you to the minute," the great man said pleasantly. "You will not mind waiting for a few minutes."

"Not in the least. Only, I'm in a deuce of a mess," frankly and directly. "Innocently enough, I've stuck my head into the police net."

"Is it possible that now I can pay my debt to you?"

"Such as it is. Have you read the article in the newspapers regarding the disappearance of Signorina da Toscana, the singer?"

"Yes."

"I am the unknown blond. Tomorrow morning I want you to go with me to the prefecture and state that I was with you all of Saturday and Sunday; that on Monday you and your wife dined with me, that yesterday we went to the aviation meet, and later to the Odeon."

"In brief, an alibi?" smiling now.

"Exactly. I shall need one."

"And a perfectly good alibi. But I have your word that you are in no wise concerned? Pardon the question, but between us it is really necessary if I am to be of service to you."

"On my word as a gentleman."

"That is sufficient."

"In fact, I do not believe that she has been abducted at all. Will you let me use your pad and pen for a minute?"

The other pushed over the required articles. Courtlandt scrawled a few words and passed back the pad.

"For me to read?"

"Yes," moodily.

The Frenchman read. Courtlandt watched him anxiously. There was not even a flicker of surprise in the official eye. Calmly he ripped off the sheet and tore it into bits, distributing the pieces into the various waste baskets yawning about his long desk. Next, still avoiding the younger man's eye, he arranged his papers neatly and locked them up in a huge safe which only the artillery of the German army could have forced. He then called for his hat and stick. He beckoned to Courtlandt to follow. Not a word was said until the car was humming on the road to Vincennes.

"Well?" said Courtlandt, finally. It was not possible for him to hold back the question any longer.

"My dear friend, I am taking you out to the villa for the night."

"But I have nothing."

"And I have everything, even forgiveness. If you were arrested tonight it would cause you some inconvenience."

"I am fifty-six, some twenty years your senior. Under this hat of mine I carry a thousand secrets, and every one of these thousand must go to the grave with me, yours along with them. I have met you a dozen times since those Algerian days, and never have you failed to afford me some amusement or excitement. You are the most interesting and entertaining young man I know. Try one of these cigars."

Precisely at the time Courtlandt stepped into the automobile outside the war office, a scene, peculiar in character, but inconspicuous in that it did not attract attention, was enacted in the Gare d'Est. Two sober-visaged men stood respectfully aside to permit a tall young man in a Bavarian hat to enter a compartment of the second class. What could be seen of the young man's face was full of smothered wrath and disappointment. How he hated himself, for his weakness, for his cowardice! He was not all bad. Knowing that he was being watched and followed, he could not go to Versailles and compromise her, uselessly. The devil take the sleek demon of a woman who had prompted him to commit so base an act!

"You will at least," he said, "deliver that message which I have entrusted to your care."

"It shall reach Versailles tonight, your highness."

The young man reread the telegram which one of the two men had given him a moment since. It was a command which even he, wilful and disobedient as he was, dared not ignore. He ripped it into shreds and flung them out of the window. He did not apologize to the man into whose face the pieces flew. That gentleman reddened perceptibly, but he held his tongue. The blare of a horn announced the time of departure. The train moved. The two men on the platform saluted, but the young man ignored the salutation. Not until the rear car disappeared in the hazy distance did the watchers stir. Then they left the station and got into the tonneau of a touring car, which shot away and did not stop until it drew up before that imposing embassy upon which the French will always look with more or less suspicion.

CHAPTER V.

The Bird Behind Bars.

The most beautiful blue Irish eyes in the world gazed out at the dawn which turned night-blue into day-blue and paled the stars. Rosal lay the undulating horizon, presently to burst into living flame, transmuting the dull steel bars of the window into fairy gold, that trick of alchemy so futilely sought by man. There was a window at the north and another at the south, likewise barred; but the Irish eyes never sought these two. It was from the east window only that they could see the long white road that led to Paris.

The nightingale was truly caged. But the wild heart of the eagle beat in this nightingale's breast, and the eyes burned as fiercely toward the east as the east burned toward the west. Sunday and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and Thursday, today; and that the five days were singular in beauty and that she had never in her life before witnessed the creation of five days, one after another, made no impression upon her sense of the beautiful, so delicate and receptive in ordinary times. She was conscious that within her the cup of wrath was overflowing. Of other things, such as eating and sleeping and moving about in her cage (more like an eagle indeed than a nightingale), recurrence had blunted her perception.

Dinner Stories

Have you ever done anything to save your fellow man from suffering?

asked Mrs. D.

"Well, I married you!" answered

Mr. D. in a rare moment of inspiration.

Brown, idle through slack times, started to tramp to Buffalo by way of the Erie Canal to look for a job.

He met on his way a good many canal boats coming up and down, and finally, stopping a canal captain, he offered to work his passage.

The captain took him on and set him to leading the horses along the towpath.

Brown led the horses for two days, thinking hard. On the third day he had thought it all out and he resigned.

"I might as well walk as work my passage," said Brown.

"Frederick, I'm sure you will forgive me," said the beautiful girl, bowing her head, "when you know the true reason of my breaking our engagement so soon. But when I became engaged to you I forgot—"

"What is it, Gladys?" he murmured sadly. "Be not afraid. Is it that you love another?"

"No, indeed," responded the girl indignantly, her eyes flashing at him through a veil of tears. "But you know how superstitious I am—I got that you would be exactly the thirteenth man I've been engaged to."

THE change may be critical and cause untold suffering in after-life. The modern young woman is often a "bundle of nerves"—"high strung"—fainting spells—emotional—frequently blue and dissatisfied with life. Such girls should be helped over this distressing stage in life—by a woman's tonic and nerve— that has proven successful for over 40 years.

How One Family Used The Want Ad Columns

"Will you tell me, Mrs. Darrell," said one young mother to another a few days past, "just how you help your children to get on so well in school?"

"When Ralph fell back in his last year's school work he felt so badly over it that after talking the matter over, his father and I decided to hire a tutor to help him through," responded Mrs. Darrell. We could not afford to pay out much money so decided to try and secure the services of some young student who would be willing to help, a few hours twice a week."

"Our ad that we ran in our home paper was answered by a number of young men and women who were able and willing to teach our boy. Ralph caught up with his class and is keeping up very well. You can hardly imagine how much it means to a child to keep with his class. I recommend you the want ad page as a first aid to your children if they are at all backward in their studies.

Are you deriving any benefit from your home town paper in this respect?"
